

SPRING 2021

CONTEMPORARY CUBA SPEAKERS SERIES

Dr. Paolo Spadoni

The Cuban Economy: Performance, Problems, and Prospects

Moderated by Dr. Ludovico Feoli, Executive Director, CIPR

At the beginning of 2021, the Cuban economy is more precarious than ever. Dr. Spadoni will analyze recent macroeconomic trends and identify the systemic problems and external factors negatively affecting the country's economic performance. The Cuban economy's future prospects now depend on recently announced economic reforms and the Biden administration's policies toward the island.

February 4, 2021
12:30 pm CST

Register for the Zoom Link here
or visit the CCSI website:
cuba.tulane.edu

Dr. Paolo Spadoni is an Associate Professor in the Department of Social Sciences at Augusta University. He is the author of Cuba's Socialist Economy Today: Navigating Challenges and Change and of Failed Sanctions: Why the U.S. Embargo against Cuba Could Never Work.

Join us for upcoming Contemporary Cuba Events

Dr. Ted A. Henken, "Who Will Control Cuba's Digital Revolution?" Feb. 25, 12:30 pm

Guest TBD, Intellectuals, the Revolution, and the N27 Movement Mar. 18, Time TBD

Derek Mills, J.D., U.S.-Cuba Policy and Relations Apr. 1, 12:30 pm

More info at cuba.tulane.edu

CUBAN AND CARIBBEAN
STUDIES INSTITUTE

