Summer in Mexico 2010
Explore   Engage   Enjoy
Guadalajara, Mexico
June 13 – July 17, 2010

Tulane University invites you to spend five exciting weeks in one of Latin America’s most dynamic cities – Guadalajara. Also known as the “City of the Roses,” Guadalajara is Mexico’s second-largest city and arguably its most beautiful. Founded in 1542, it is renowned for its colonial architecture and its exquisite arts and crafts. Its importance today as an industrial and commercial center contributes to its special blend of past and present. The capital of the central state of Jalisco, it boasts an international airport, and easy access to other major cities, such as Morelia, Guanajuato, and Mexico City, and some of Mexico’s most beautiful beaches.

The Summer in Mexico program is open to all presently enrolled college students in good academic standing (including freshmen) and maintaining at least a 2.5 cumulative grade point average. Knowledge of the Spanish language is not a prerequisite. All students enroll in two courses (for six or seven Tulane credits) at the Centro de Estudios para Extranjeros (CEPE), affiliated with the prestigious University of Guadalajara. A variety of courses are offered in areas including: Spanish, Political Science, Mexican Culture, and Mexican Film.

Outside the classroom, students will have the option of participating in various forms of community service. And students will also have the opportunity to participate in the CEPE’s “Amistad” program, which is a language “intercambio” program that introduces Tulane students to Mexican college students who are studying English and would like a practice partner. These and other activities are designed to give Tulane participants the opportunity to learn more about Mexican culture and society through direct involvement, while at the same time encouraging them to improve their Spanish.

Additional activities, such as music, dance, and cooking workshops, or trips to nearby towns and the Pacific coast, are organized by the University of Guadalajara and by the Tulane Program Director, Professor James Huck, at a reasonable cost. The Program Director also organizes numerous outings in and around Guadalajara that are free to Tulane participants. Guadalajara is home to countless museums, markets, restaurants, and cafés, making it virtually impossible to take in all that this rich and exciting city has to offer.

Students live and share their meals with Mexican families. The University of Guadalajara maintains a pool of nearly 250 families for homestay assignments. Homestays represent yet another opportunity for students to improve their Spanish through total immersion, and also to experience Mexican cultural traditions directly.

The Curriculum

All classes are held at the University of Guadalajara’s Centro de Estudios Para Extranjeros (CEPE). The University was founded in 1792 and is the second largest university in Mexico. Tulane University students will not need to transfer their credit after program is completed; all credits will be earned as Tulane credits. All courses are taught by Mexican faculty of the University of Guadalajara, except for one special course which is taught (in English) by the Tulane Program Director, Professor James D. Huck. Class sessions are two hours in length and meet Monday through Friday. Most classes meet in the morning so that students can use the afternoon to explore the city.
Course Offerings
(PLEASE NOTE THESE ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE)

Mexican Film (COMM 461 – 3 credits, taught in Spanish) This course analyzes the history of Mexican film in the context of the country’s social and political background.

Mexican Culture (LAST 313 – 3 credits, taught in Spanish) Students who take this course receive a historical tour from pre-Hispanic times to the present day. The class will focus on significant examples of Mexican culture, including its social traditions, art, architecture, music, and folklore.

Mexican Politics and Government (POLC 431 – 3 credits, taught in English by Tulane Program Director) The primary objective of this course is to present students with an understanding of Mexico’s current political reality, as well as the historical legacies that continue to shape the political system. The course will explore in-depth the Mexican political system under the PRI, state-society relations, Mexico’s democratic transition, and U.S.-Mexican relations.

SPAN 101, Introductory Spanish I (4) An introduction to Spanish with an emphasis on listening and speaking skills, as well as on grammar.

SPAN 102, Elements of Spanish II (4) Spanish 102 is a continuation of skills begun in 101, reinforced by the introduction of reading and writing. Students may enroll in either 101 or 102 depending upon their level of proficiency.

SPAN 203, Elements of Spanish III (4) Review of fundamental grammar and speaking and listening skills. It also includes the writing and reading of expository texts and literary selections.

SPAN 204, Spanish Conversation (3) Prerequisite: SPAN 203. Not open to native speakers. Practice in oral discussion based on Mexican and other Latin American topics of current interest.

SPAN 304, Grammar and Writing in Spanish (3) Prerequisite: SPAN 204 or equivalent. Analysis and practice in the written language.

SPAN 411, Modern Spanish American Literature (3, in Spanish) Prerequisite: department placement or 300-level Spanish literature. Not open to senior majors. Major authors of the 20th century.

SPAN 413, Topics in Spanish American Literature (3, in Spanish) Major Mexican authors of the 20th century.

Costs of the Program

The price of the program is $3,400 for an early application ($3,600 after 2/25/2010), which includes:

- Six-seven Tulane University undergraduate credits
- Housing accommodations with a Mexican family
- Three meals daily
- Medical insurance
- Tulane-sponsored outings and events, organized weekly

The price of the program does not include airfare. Students are encouraged to make their own travel arrangements, thereby securing the best price. After students have confirmed and purchased their travel arrangements, they should submit their individual air travel information to nporto@tulane.edu.
We will make this information accessible to fellow participants and their parents if they are interested in knowing who will share their flight to Guadalajara.

Students participating in the program should expect to bring additional money to cover entertainment and other incidental costs.

Applying to the Program

University students interested in applying must be in good academic standing and have at least a current cumulative grade point average of 2.5. The application process requires two letters of recommendation. Students must also submit a current official transcript with their application.

Complete applications (including application form, official transcript, and recommendations) and a $200 non-refundable deposit are due by 5:00 p.m. on February 25, 2010 for an early application and by March 25, 2010 for the regular application in the Stone Center for Latin American Studies (Jones Hall, Tulane University.) The balance of the program costs ($3,200 for those who applied early or $3400 for those who applied regularly) is due upon acceptance into the program. The final payment may be made by MasterCard, Visa, check, or money order. Checks should be made payable to Tulane University and submitted directly to Natalia Porto at the Stone Center of Latin American Studies.

Tulane students seeking loans to cover costs of this program should make early, specific arrangements with the Financial Aid Office, being sure to indicate that they are seeking a loan for a SUMMER PROGRAM. All students who will be receiving Financial Aid are still individually responsible for submitting payment for the full program price directly to Natalia Porto at the Stone Center. The indication of an available balance in a student’s Accounts Receivable balance will not be sufficient; the student must still produce a check/money order/credit card payment for the full amount due to the program. (You can now cover part of your cost through a TULASO Scholarship for Summer Programs. Look for more info on our website!)

Additional pre-printed applications are available at the Stone Center for Latin American Studies office in 100 Jones Hall. Or request one via email by contacting Natalia Porto at nporto@tulane.edu or download electronic applications by visiting http://stonecenter.tulane.edu/pages/detail/104/Summer-Programs-2010.

Passport and Visa

The Stone Center for Latin American Studies requires all students to possess a valid passport in order to participate in this program. For information on applying for a passport (U.S. citizens), please visit the U.S. State Department web site at http://travel.state.gov/. A tourist card is also required to enter Mexico, and is available through any consulate, travel agent, or at airline counters at the airport. Non-U.S. citizens should check with a Mexican consulate about visa requirements, and with Tulane’s International Student Center about re-entry to the United States.
Service Learning

Please note that organizers plan to add a week-long service learning component to follow the main program. Contact the Program Director for more information.
