

A CELEBRATION OF
ANA M. LÓPEZ
ESSAYS

FRIDAY, MAY 12, 2023
TULANE UNIVERSITY

Join us in celebrating the new book Ana M. López: Essays recently published by SUNY Press as part of their series in Latin American Cinema. Collection editors and former Tulane students, Laura Podalsky (PhD, 1995), Professor of Latin American Studies in the Department of Spanish and Portuguese at The Ohio State University, and Dolores Tierney (PhD, 2002), Professor and Head of Film Studies in the School of Media, Arts and Humanities at the University of Sussex in the U.K. will host a one-day hybrid symposium to launch the volume in community with Dr. López's colleagues, mentees, and friends.

From the introduction by Laura Podalsky and Dolores Tierney:

Ana M. López is one of the foremost film and media scholars in the world. Her work has addressed Latin American filmmaking in every historical period, across countries and genres—from early cinema to the present; from Brazil, Cuba, and Mexico to diasporic and Latinx cinemas in the United States; from documentary to melodrama to politically militant film. López's groundbreaking essays have transformed Latin American film studies, opening up new approaches, theoretical frameworks, and lines of investigation while also extending beyond cinema to analyze its connections with television, radio, and broader cultural phenomena.

If you would like to join the celebration either in-person or virtually, please let us know immediately so that we may adequately plan to host all attendees. You may email the Stone Center for Latin American Studies at rtsclas@tulane.edu or RSVP here. Please make sure to include the number of people who might join you.

Sponsored by Tulane University, including the Department of Communication and the Department of Spanish & Portuguese in the School of Liberal Arts, and the Stone Center for Latin American Studies

